eLearning that fits
YOUR business needs

Technology at work for you

CONNECTING YOUR BUSINESS TO THE TRAINING RESOURCES YOU NEED

Think of eLearning as a portable, virtual classroom, that's ready wherever you need it. For industries with workers in the field, even in far-flung or remote locations, eLearning has been a sea-change, overhauling the way workers are trained, while reducing, even eliminating, travel costs. This training is accessible around the clock, every day of the year, whenever your people are ready.

And what happens once the training has been completed?

These days, trainers need instant access to training records. Regulatory officials and company auditors demand accurate, complete information, and aren't always willing to wait for you to compile it. With Moxie Media's Learning Management System (LMS), the records you need are always at your fingertips. Accessing the complete training history for a single employee or an entire crew is just a click away.

CUSTOM DEVELOPMENT

No matter how many resources you have at your disposal, there is always a time when you can use some outside development help. From shooting new video to converting your existing content into eLearning modules, Moxie has the equipment, facilities and talent to assist you when time is short.
